THE TRIAL OF JEAN LOUIS.

The trial of Jean Louis, on the charge of committing perjury during his examination as a witness for the defence in the Tichborne case, commenced to-day.

During the progress of the trial of Louis a police officer swore the prisoner (Louis) confessed that he had been instructed how to testify by Messrs. Anslow and Whalley, Captain Brown and others; that his only object was to make money; that at first he was averse to appearing in Court, but that Anslow, who expected to receive the bulk of the Tichborne property if the claimant was successful, insisted on his testifying as directed, and promised him a stewardship in return for his services.

Mrs. Anslow's Reply to Jean Louis's Charges.

LONDON, Jan. 8, 1874.

Mr. Anslow has written a letter to the press, explaining his connection with Louis, the witness in the Tichborne case accused of perjury, and contradicting the charges made by the latter in his confession to the policeman.

The Failure of Bowles Brothers.

[From the Pall Mall Gazette, Dec. 23.]

At the bankruptcy Court this morning an adjourned meeting for public examination was held before Mr. Registrar Roche under the failure of Messrs. Bowles Brothers, formerly carrying on business as American bankers in the Strand and at various places abroad. Mr. Richard Jones appeared for the trustees, and stated that Robert C. M. Jones was the only partner in the firm who had surrendered to the proceedings. The debts were roughly estimated at $200,000 and assets in various parts amounting to $10,000 or $20,000, which were chiefly in the hands of the Syndic in Paris and in America. When the case was last before the Court, Mr. Stevens, the representative of the estate in America, attended, and made a proposal on behalf of Mr. Appleton, one of the partners, with the view to a general arrangement of the property; but, unfortunately, Mr. Appleton had withdrawn his proposal. Negotiations were, however, pending for a settlement, and Mr. Jones, the representative in America of Bowles Brothers, having come for that purpose from America, and Mr. Appleton was also represented. The negotiations were now assuming a tangible shape, and it was intended ultimately to wind up the estate under the twenty-eighth section of the act. Mr. Jones suggested that the property should be sold to adjourn the present sitting ad hoc pending the arrangements. Mr. W. H. Roberts appeared for the creditors. His Honor granted an adjournment sine die.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

Mme. Nissen opened in St. Louis to a middling house.

"Le Mariage de Figaro," of Beaumarchais, has been playing in French and English lately in London. The Frenchman's "Figaro" is immensely preferred by the critics.

"Tannhäuser" was lately mounted at the Théâtre de la Monnaie, Brussels, but the Bruxellois declined to go and see it. Unless they left the city they must have heard it.

O'Keefe's play of "Wild Oats" is among the successful comedy revivals in London. "Raymond and Agnes, the Bleeding Nun," a bloody melodrama, between 60 and 70 years old, is also announced.

Mrs. Sarah Roberts, an actress, vocalist and proprietor of singers and actresses, died recently in London, in her seventy-seventh year. She was known as Miss Prosbury to the London of half a century since.

Offenbach has gone to Nice in search of repose. It is believed, however, that he has taken with him the score of "Orphée aux Enfers," intending to make some considerable augmentations and additions to it. He will have to reach a still warmer latitude before perfecting it.

M. H. Schneider, the opera bouffe prima donna, has, it is stated, purchased a plot of ground in the Avenue de l'Impératrice, which she has paid nearly $50,000. The residence which the Grand Duchess intends to build on her new property will when completed upwards of 1,000,000 francs ($200,000).

The Maurel-Wienawski cohorts come to a close with the performance announced for this evening at Steynway Hall. The great violinist and the splendid barytone have had wretched weather for their combination performances heretofore. The selections for this evening are judiciously made, and should prove attractive.

A concert in aid of the soup fund of the East London baths and washhouses was recently given at Albert Hall, London, with the Duke of Edinburgh among the first violinists, and his brother, Prince Arthur, in a private box. Both artists appeared according to previous announcement.

A quantity of soap was insured for the cookery, poor and unclean.

M. Franconi, the Parisian circus man, has brought an action for 10,000 francs damages against the proprietor of a café concert for announcing the exhibition of a double headed, four legged, bi-brachiate woman. The phenomenon proved to be two women strapped together. The plaintiff bases his claim on the fact that this sham monstrousness drew a $2,000 stir on the four legged woman he claims to possess.

Mlle. Dondoli, a new Parisian prima donna, is spoken of as sort of diluted mixture of Nilsson and Patti, the physique of the first, the vocalism of the second; but weakened in either case, bona fide. It is not to be expected she should get a Patti and a Nilsson rolled into one. Her voice is pure, well timbred and carries far and clearly. She has the prevalent curse of the virtuosi, but that is to be expected.

M. Ambroise Thomas has informed the pupils of the Paris Conservatoire de Musique that they may shortly be called upon to interpret publicly the works of their fellow students. The news was received with acclamations by the pupils. The instrumental class consists of 60 pupils, and that makes a good orchestra. One of their best efforts lately has been a symphony by Haydn, which was marvellously well executed.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Benevolent Society an amateur entertainment was given last evening at the residence of Mrs. Morrison, West Twenty-eighth street. The features of the evening consisted of "The Little Treasure" and "The Happy Pair," in the latter of which Mrs. Etta Manning displayed some rare artistic qualifications. Miss Nathan, as Gertrude in the "Little Treasure," was the favor of the crowded benevolent assembly.

A dramatic author, Mr. Bartly Campbell, has been interviewed by the Pittsburg Leader on the matter of Bonduca's genius and his own.

On the latter point he is modest as his reputation deserves, but this is the way he handles Mr. Bonduca:—"The fire of his genius will no longer heat the crucible of his invention, and he finds himself trying to draw water from a well that, however faithful in the past, is now dry." This, we may inform Mr. Campbell, is not to be wondered at, as all the water in the well was used in keeping down the fire. We must all, therefore, sympathize with the cooled crucible and Mr. Campbell, who got so badly mixed.

Mr. Theodore Thomas announces his last orchestral matinee for Saturday, at Steynway Hall, when a peculiarly interesting programme will be interpreted.

The leading selections are from Beethoven's "Leonore" overture, No. 1, Wagner's "Lohengrin" (third act) and Rar, whose new symphonic poem, "Leonore," will be performed here for the second time. A quartet for the horns (Marchner) and three German dance movements, by Borghie, figure in the second part, which will be opened by the overture to "William Tell." Mr. Whitney, the sterling basso, will sing the song "I'm a Roamer," from Mendelssohn's "Son and Stranger," and an aria from Mozart. Mr. Thomas, it is understood, will take the first available opportunity to renew these morning entertainments, for which the public has shown so much partiality.

THE SHOOTING OF ADOLPH MEYER.

The statement of Adolph Meyer, of No. 1,849 Third avenue, who was shot in the knee late on New Year's Night by a pistol shot, alleged to have been fired in the hands of Richard Jones, a German, while in, or near a brewery in the upper part of the city, was yesterday taken by Coroner Kessler at Mount Sinai Hospital. Deceased, who was a brewer, was out making calls late at night with a number of friends, and when at Ringier's brewery some of them commenced firing guns and pistols on the street, taking effect in May's knee. There seemed to have been no intent to shoot any one, and Meyer does not charge that there was. Richard will be required to give bail.

THE NEW BRUNSWICK BANK "IRREGULARITIES."

The Middlesex county (N. J.) Grand Jury came into Court at New Brunswick yesterday, having closed their labors, and presented to the Court a withering arraignment of the management of the State Bank. They find that "the law signally fails to punish adequately a great part of the real moral guilt which has been proved before us. The few who have committed outrights and overt acts of fraud and conspiracy we have been able to reach with two bills. But theirs is the most serious of all crimes, and the most difficult to punish.
